REFICIAL IDURNAL OF THE CITY

Tribune is to be believed, Hon. George
G. Barnard, of New York, has been in the interest of Fisk, the Tammany ring and all the thieves that infest Gotham. This attempt to purify the Gotham. This attempt to purify the America during 1872.

The work of destruction wrought by the great famine. At present indications point to the entire freedom from the terrible visitation of Europe and America during 1872.

A philosophic editor thus discourses to the ladies. Its effect on the movement won't be, as Dominie Sampson would say, "prodigious": "Among the young men in the matrimonial market, only a very small number are judiciary is not an unfavorable sign. The American people have endured dicial power of the States is conservaruption and party zeal, but the ex. attained. istence of a pure, bold, manly and independent judiciary. Of all powers of the State the exercise of its appropriate duties is the least obtrusive. for it seeks nothing, it runs after nothing, but sits in all the purity of its own ermine upon a lofty eminence, poising on high the scales of justice, and deciding only such cases as are brought before it. Pitiable is the condition of a community when the judiciary ceases to be the bulwark of time, public and private rights sgainst all forms of corruption, injustice and oppression; degraded, indeed, is the people that suffers the administration of justice to pass into impure hands. When profilgate partisans administer the laws, and warp them to their own foul purposes-when guilt is screened by collusion with the public officers who ought to pursue it-the last stage is reached of social and political degra dation. There is hope for the perpetu ation of our institutions, and that purity will triumph over corruption, so long as the bench is undefiled by the villainies of this degenerate age. A timid or a corrupt executive may bring scandal or loss upon the State a reckless or hesitating legislature may cause serious harm or permit grave wrongs to be done to the commonwealth; but far more serious are the evils and immeasurably more aggravated are the wrongs which may flow from a weak or a corrupt judiciary. In the other cases the sum of the harm done falls upon the masses, but when the fountains and the administration of justice are impregnated with corruption, or are obstructed by fear, the injury falls upon every inhabitant, and neither the life, lib erty, pro erty, nor rights of the citizens are secure from the dangers incident to that worst of community evils. In a word-if he chooses, a and a burlesque of law.

A PLAIN DUTY. Show us an intelligent family of men and women, boys and girls, and we will show you where newspapers abound. Nobody who has been without these silent, private tutors, can know their educative power. How important, then, to secure those which makes home pleasant, cheerful and chatty, thins the haunts of vice, and the thousand and one avenues of temptation, should be regarded, when we consider its influence on the minds of the young, as a great moral and social blessing. The news of the week is carefully collated and condensed, and our ers the very freshest tidings by telegraph, steamship and Atlantic cable, The editorials are able; the correspondence full; the markets complete; and nothing is omitted which can interest and instruct. It is, moreover expulsion, a single square inch of cuthe plain duty of every good citizen to support and main-tain a newspaper which devotes majesty rescinds the rigorous rule that she has not opened; and the money, toil and practised intelligence which excludes high-bodied dresses on stones that have been thrown at her to promote every good cause designed state occasions. It is dangerous to be "highly spok-" to provide for the immediate payment of interest on the bonded debt. If Aristides were properly bonors incident to his name he would be pleased that Tennesseeans are "just" before they are generous. Justice, like charlity, should begin at home, and there would be little of either virtue in robbing a people to pay bonds of which they were robbed, especially when Mr. Aristides Cocker, of London, they were robbed, especially when Mr. Aristides Cocker, of London, assuming to be a gentleman of honor and intelligence, must have known that the people of Tennessee, neither through themselves nor their agents, created the government that created the bonds. The fact that Cocker brught them at forty cents was notice of their invalidity. But it is a committee of their invalidity.
